A CITIZEN'S DISSENT - Notes

103 (258) Why is there no source on this graph? Is it possible that the speed of the car varied this greatly in half a second, less time than a man can put his foot on the brake and take it off? Is it not, for example, just as possible that the camera speed varied? Or that the analysis is wrong because of defects in hhe calculations? With all this footnote flackery, why is there no source?
